Jobless office to close July 31

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

The unemployment office in Granite City is scheduled to close July 31.

Customers currently served by the Illinois Department of Employment Security office in the American Village Shopping Center in Granite City will be directed to the Glen Carbon IDES office in Cottonwood Mall.

Five other IDES offices in the southern region of the state will be closed between July 28 and Nov. 1 — West Frankfort, Carbondale, Olney, Cairo and Harrisburg. Customers currently served by those offices will be referred to one of the nine full-service offices that will remain in the southern region of the state.

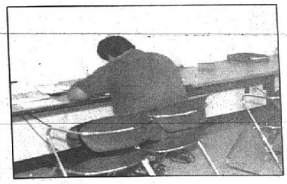

Tommy Brown of Venice is just one of thousands of individuals in the Tri-Cities area who utilize the services offered at the Granite City IDES office.

"That's news to me. I didn't know (about the closure)," Brown said Wednesday as he entered the office.

"How are the unemployed people going to be able to afford to go to Glen Carbon?" he asked.

City to get FEMA funds

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Granite City officials received some good news from a federal disaster agency this week.

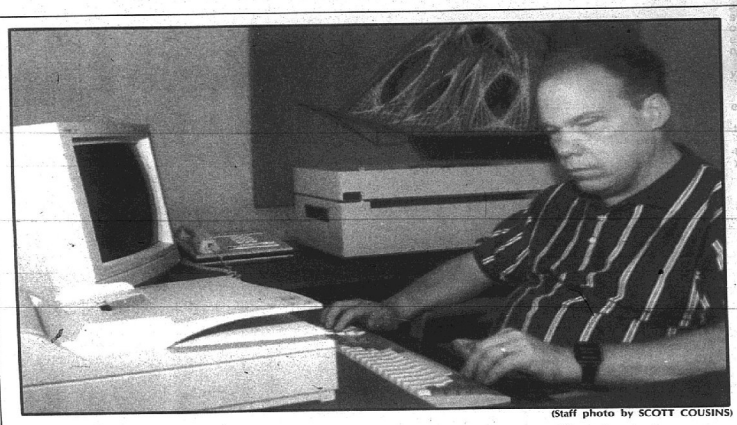

Mayor Ron Selph said the Federal Emergency Management Agency has given the city a 90 percent confidence level that the city will be reimbursed 75 percent of costs associated with repairs to infrastructure damaged by the heavy rains last May.

The city's expenses include repairs to 31 damaged sanitary sewer lines, two damaged streets, debris removal and sandbagging.

Joe Juneau of Juneau Associates, the city's contractual engineer, has estimated those costs at more than $1.7 million. That translates into reimbursement of almost $1.3 million for the city.

With those figures in mind, the City Council on Tuesday authorized 18 emergency sewer repairs and advertising for bids to repair damage to two streets — a 150-feet section of Fehling Road and a section of Briarcliff.

Computers for the blind

Computers are becoming more and more important at both the workplace and home, but some people still get nervous when they see one.

For those who can't see, trying to work with what is primarily a visual medium can be even more difficult.

That's where Randy Knapp comes in.

Blind since birth, Granite City resident Knapp recently started working for National Industries for the Blind, a nonprofit organization with a local office in Earth City, Mo.

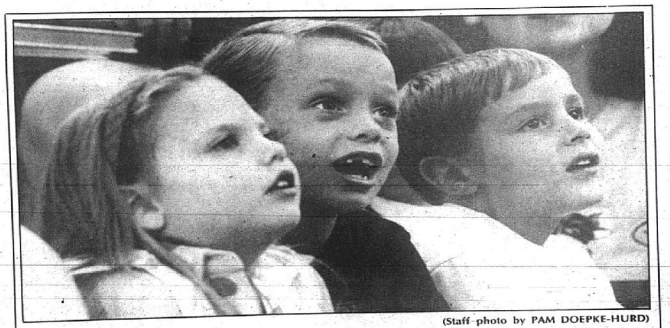

"What I do is adapt computers so blind and visually-impaired people can use them through voice, or large print or Braille," he said.

Knapp's computer uses a voice system. Like most visually impaired, he avoids the mouse and relies on the keyboard.

"The speech synthesizer says everything that comes to the screen," he said. "So if I type, I hear the characters that I type. If I hit enter, the directory scrolls and reads everything."

Annexation settlement

Madison will keep raceway, truck plaza

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The cities of Madison and Fairmont City have apparently settled a four-year-old dispute involving annexed property and hundreds of thousands of dollars in sales tax revenues.

The Madison City Council Tuesday approved a resolution authorizing an agreement with St. Clair County and Fairmont City to settle annexation lawsuits filed in 1991 and 1992.

Fairmont City was expected to approve its own resolution at its meeting Wednesday night.

Under the agreement, Madison will keep Gateway International Raceway, Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza and all sales tax revenue collected since the suits were filed.

The agreement calls for Madison to de-annex three pieces of property, which will be annexed by Fairmont City.

Bellcoff

Those parcels are an 11-acre section of the Waste Management Inc. landfill south of the Cahokia Canal; the strip commonly called the Conrail property just north of East St. Louis; and property just south of the Gateway International Raceway and the Interstate 55/70 interchange at Illinois 203.

"I feel wonderful about it," Madison Mayor John Bellcoff said after Tuesday's meeting. "I think it was high time the two communities got together to resolve this unfortunate thing, and we can get on with our future endeavors."

The land, annexed by Madison between 1985 and 1990, became the subject of two lawsuits filed by St. Clair County on behalf of Fairmont City. The suits challenge the legality of the annexations.

Fairmont City Mayor Charles Suarez said the annexations were an "obvious" attempt to block the village's access to the racetrack and other property in St. Clair County.

"Our contention was that they (the annexations) were flawed," he said.

As part of the agreement, the county will drop both suits.

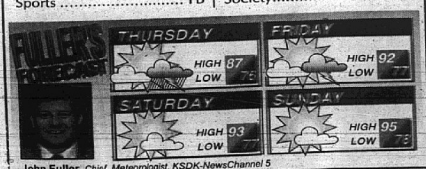

Suarez said he was content with the settlement.

"I think this issue would not

The Madison County Board voted unanimously Wednesday to appoint Debra Ming as supervisor of assessments.

Ming was sworn in during the meeting to replace Robert Harris, who died last week after holding the position for 10 years. Before becoming supervisor of assessments, Harris had spent eight years a a member of the county's Board of Review.

Harris died at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis July 12 after heart surgery. He had been on leave from work since June 9 because of circulatory problems, but his death came as a surprise to friends and coworkers.

Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer was visibly shaken when he called for a moment of silence for Harris at the start of the county board's monthly meeting Wednesday.

"I'm sure most of you know what close friends Bob and I were," Hagnauer told the board as he tried to keep his

Brown tapped for city post

Former Granite City alderman and mayoral candidate Dan Brown will be the city's next director of economic development.

Mayor Ron Selph was to make the appointment at Tuesday night's City Council meeting. Selph cited Brown's experience in the law, real estate and public relations as assets in the position.

Brown, a 12-year Granite City resident, holds a bachelor's degree in political science from the University of Missouri and a law degree from St. Louis University.

Worst heat may be past

Workers in the St. Elizabeth Medical Center emergency room, were busy with heat-related cases throughout the weekend, but hospital officials say the worst is probably over.

Kathleen Gauen, SEMC's director of emergency services, said nine people were treated for heat-related illness at the hospital between Friday afternoon and Monday morning. One was admitted to SEMC, while another patient was transferred to Oliver C. Anderson Hospital in Maryville.

A total of 18 people had been treated for heat-related illness since the previous Monday.

9 pick up school petitions

Granite City school elections traditionally draw a large field of candidates, and this year will apparently be no exception.

As of Monday, nine candidates — including three incumbent school board members — had picked up petitions to have their names placed on the Nov. 7 ballot in the Granite City School District.

Incumbents whose terms will expire are Rick Dickerson (who was appointed to the board last year to fill the vacancy created by the death of Monroe Worthen), Carolyn Nemeth, Jim Noeth and Jeff Parker. Dickerson, Noeth and Parker have all picked up petitions. John Cauldron, Gene Patterson, Andrea Rhoads, Ron Dillard, Ron Landman and Betty Forshee had also picked up petitions as of Monday.

Fire guts real estate office

To John Royce, the fire that gutted his Madison Avenue real estate office over the weekend is no big deal.

The fire at Century 21 Royce Realty, 2862 Madison Ave., ignited on the first floor of the two-story yellow brick building at about 8:35 a.m. Saturday, according to a fire report.

Harris' death mourned

Flags flew at half-staff Thursday at the Madison County Courthouse in honor of longtime Supervisor of Assessments Bob Harris.

Harris, 61, of Granite City, died Wednesday night at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis after entering the hospital earlier in the week for heart surgery.

Harris was a former Granite City firefighter and former member of the Belleville Area College board.

Fire destroys Relleke barn

Spontaneous combustion is being blamed for a fire Thursday night that destroyed a barn on Sand Prairie Lane near Cahokia Mounds.

The barn was part of Relleke Farms. There were no injuries, but damage was estimated at about $60,000 for the barn. Also destroyed were 5,000 bales of straw, 1,000 bales of hay and several pieces of machinery.

Man dies in accident

A 33-year-old East Alton man, Mark S. Wade, was killed when his vehicle burst into flames at 9:22 p.m. Sunday after hitting a concrete floodgate abutment on Illinois Route 111 near the Cahokia Diversion Canal in Hartford.

Wade was driving southbound on Route 111, apparently at a high rate of speed, when his vehicle left the road for an unknown reason and drove against a guardrail before striking the levee, Hartford Police Chief Dennis Rigsbey said.

"After hitting the concrete, due to the force of the impact, his gas tank (exploded)," Rigsbey said.

The guardrail apparently cut a tear into the gas tank and leaking gas ignited by sparks from friction was jettisoned 30 feet up the embankment, starting a small weed fire.

an unemployed union carpenter in local 633.

"Why are they going to close this office? I'll go (to Glen Carbon), but it sure was convenient having it here so close," Helmers said.

In addition to the thousands of unemployed individuals who utilize the facility, several local industries — including National Steel and American Steel Foundries — have utilized the local office in the past for placement services when job openings occurred.

IDES Director Lynn Q. Doherty said the decision on which offices to close was based on the number of unemployment insurance claims filed in each respective office.

"The trend in Illinois and nationwide is toward regional 'one-stop' career centers that combine government services under one roof, making it easier for customers to access service and at the same time reduce operating costs," she said.

State Rep. Tom Holbrook, D-Belleville, said he tried to work out a compromise to at least keep the local office open part-time for those with limited resources.

"I don't think it speaks well for the decision-making process that this was relocated in a bedroom community instead of in the industrial center, where the jobs are," Holbrook said. "The need in the Granite City area is greater than anywhere else they could have put it."

Granite City Mayor Ron Selph said the decision is "a slap in the face of the residents of the Quad Cities" and appears to be politically motivated. "I feel it's a travesty that they'll relocate an employment office from an industrial community to a bedroom community," Selph said.

Since the state made an announcement two years ago that a reorganization would occur in the IDES offices, the city has been negotiating with the state's department of Central Management Services to try to get the office located in downtown Granite City.

Over the past two years, the city spent several hundred thousand dollars renovating the vacant former Central Bank building on Edison Avenue — directly across from a Madison County Transit District bus station — in anticipation of a lease with the state.

But, after sending a letter to the city promising to negotiate, the state failed to do so, city officials said.

St. Elizabeth Medical Center has since moved its Home Health Services into the former bank building.

have been settled easily if it would have been litigated," he said.

Suarez said the case could have gone on for another six or seven years.

"It gives us some concessions," he said.

The agreement was finalized during a recent meeting between St. Clair County, Fairmont City and Madison officials.

Bellcoff said Madison will receive all the sales tax revenues from the contested properties. The money is being held in escrow until the case is settled.

"The monies being held will be released, and because we're hard-pressed for money, it will be a welcome addition," he said.

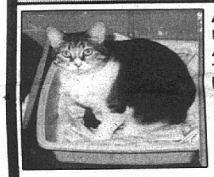

Several city officials said they were unsure exactly how much money was involved, but it has been estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

Because of proposed development in that area, the settlement of the suit could mean large amounts of revenue for the city in the future.

At Tuesday's meeting City Attorney Casper Nighohossian said the de-annexation process will take some time, and several ordinances before it is completed.

In other business, the council approved an ordinance allowing Madison Metal Services, Inc., to buy out the remainder of a $1 million industrial revenue bond issued in 1974.

Granite council opposes plant

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Quad City residents could be asked to refrain from mowing lawns on certain days and prohibited from holding backyard barbecues if a proposed wood-to-energy plant is built in Madison, local environmental activist Kathy Andria says.

At the urging of Andria, the Granite City Council voted Tuesday night to go on record as opposing the proposed $75 million project.

"We have the most contaminated air in Illinois and additional pollution can restrict our lifestyle and industry," 2nd Ward Alderman Craig Tarpoff said. "I think it is appropriate that we oppose this."

STRIV LLC of Bloomfield, Conn. has proposed the facility, which would burn waste wood and coal recovered from abandoned mines to produce energy for Illinois Power Co. The facility would be located off Bend Road in Madison, near the Cloverleaf Subdivision. A public hearing on the siting for the facility will be held Tuesday and Wednesday in Madison.

The vote by the City Council was not unanimous. Three distinct voices could be heard voting "no" when Mayor Ron Selph called for a voice vote on Tarpoff's motion to oppose the development.

"Rather than immediately opposing the project, why don't we send a representative to (hearings next week) to get an educated opinion of the project?" 5th Ward Alderman Eddie Asadorian asked.

Ward 4 Alderman Foster Frederick said said the city was sticking its nose into business where it doesn't belong.

"I don't think we have a right to tell Madison what to do, or Venice or Wood River or Alton for that matter," Frederick said.

Ward 7 Alderman Kim Affolter agreed with Frederick.

"I think it's a grave mistake for neighboring cities to begin to stick their noses into each other's business," Affolter said after the meeting. "We have no right to tell Madison what to do with their business, and Madison has no right to gripe when Granite City Steel's emissions blow that way."

The discussion was prompted by comments from Andria, who said she opposes a similar waste-to-energy plant proposed in Wood River as well.

Andria, a Granite City resident, said the facility will shoot minute particles of lead, arsenic, dioxin and other toxic substances into the air.

"This is so important to us. These particulates can go to Lake School and all over the community. As you know, we have enough pollution already," Andria said.

But Affolter said the Illinois and U.S. Environmental Protection agencies will require screens on smoke stacks that will capture the most hazardous emissions.

"The EPA isn't going to allow any plant to go up and allow those direct type of emissions," Affolter said.

Andria also said that Michael Vrtis, the project manager, told a group of Cloverleaf residents that they didn't need to worry about pollution because pollutants would fly over their heads to Granite City.

Vrtis could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

Madison officials to tour plants

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Madison officials are planning to tour wood-to-energy plants similar to the one proposed for the city.

And while council members consider visiting other plants, both sides are preparing for next week's siting hearing.

At Tuesday's meeting, the council approved paying reasonable expenses for its members to tour the plants.

Alderman John Hamm said he and several others were making plans to go to Michigan in mid-August. He said they wanted to go to the Michigan plants because the plants are closer and would be less expensive to visit.

"I'll be there to look not only at the facility, but primarily talk to the neighbors," he said.

Hamm said other considerations will be the effect on the local school district, city revenues and its environmental record.

Metro East LLC, a subsidiary of the Connecticut firm STRV LLC, has proposed building a $75 million plant to produce energy by burning waste wood and coal.

The plant would provide approximately 30 full-time jobs, and provide about $2.5 million in annual sales and property taxes for the city and school district, according to company officials.

The plant has been opposed by a combination of local environmentalists and residents of the nearby Cloverleaf subdivision, which is located outside the city limits.

The siting hearing for the plant will begin at 9 a.m. Tuesday, July 25, at the Madison Middle School. The hearings are expected to take at least two full days.

On the first day, Metro East LLC is expected to present its case. Opponents will be allowed to make a presentation the second day. Depending on the amount of testimony and public comment, the hearings could go beyond two days.

Kathy Andria of Stop Polluting Illinois, who attended part of Tuesday's meeting, said her group was still gathering information and trying to find expert witnesses to testify.

Written evidence and a list of proposed witnesses must be given to the city clerk within five calendar days of the hearing. As of Tuesday, neither side had done so.

Kustra lauds local effort

Price, Scott victories applauded

Civic and government leaders congratulated each other Monday night for their victory in keeping open the Charles Melvin Price Support Center and expanding the scope of Scott Air Force Base.

"It was about jobs and about keeping people at work," Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra told a crowd at the Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois' annual dinner in the Gateway Center in Collinsville.

"It is time for it to be registered in Washington, D.C., or anywhere else that this is where we draw the line," Kustra said. "We're getting better and better at this every time it comes up. If we had to face another round, we would be strong, but we won't be on another (base closure) list because we made the case."

Kustra was interrupted by applause from the more than 300 business and governmental leaders in attendance.

The Leadership Council, which spearheaded the drive to keep open the Price Center in Granite City and Scott near Belleville, named U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello of Belleville and Kustra recipients of its Salute to Southwestern Illinois award.

The honor recognized their roles in convincing the federal Defense Base Closure and Realignment Commission to spare the two bases.

Kustra was chairman of Gov. Jim Edgar's Operation Salute, a state campaign to keep open Illinois bases. Costello worked for more than two years behind the scenes to save Scott and Price before enlisting help from the Leadership Council to lead the effort.

Costello did not attend the dinner but issued a statement saying he was honored.

"Our efforts were the result of a coordinated, cohesive campaign to let the appropriate government officials know how important these bases are to our nation's military forces," Costello said in his statement.

The federal commission voted June 23 to reject the Pentagon's recommendation to close the Price Center and President Clinton signed the revised list last week.

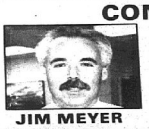

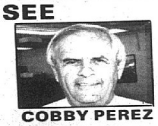

The Leadership Council had mounted a $700,000 campaign to save the center and its about 400 direct and indirect jobs. The commission also approved an Air Force recommendation to move the 126th Air Guard Refueling Wing from O'Hare International Airport to Scott and to close the Aviation and Troop Command in St. Louis.

Know the facts

Environmental issues are almost always emotionally charged and often lead to hard-fought battles.

A proposal to build a wood-to-energy plant in Madison, near the Cloverleaf residential neighborhood, will no doubt be one such issue.

Unfortunately, these emotionally-charged battles, which will undoubtedly affect the lives of individuals (either positively or negatively), almost invariably include vocal factions who have not taken the time to research the issues involved. All it takes is for one Chicken Little to proclaim that the sky is falling and dozens of Henny Penneys willingly fall in line, spreading misinformation and fear without bothering to look up.

Details of this kind of proposal are often technical in nature. Efforts are sometimes made to hide facts from the public, but that is not the case in the proposal by STRIV LLC to build a $75 million plant to produce energy from waste wood and coal.

Michael Vrtis, the developer of the proposed plant, has gone to great lengths to inform residents about the merits of his plan. He has walked door-to-door, passing out fliers and listening to concerns. He has deposited scores of books containing information about wood-burning plants in the Madison public library. He has offered to meet with opponents to discuss (and address) concerns. He has offered to take interested persons to similar existing facilities to see first-hand how they operate. And he has offered to finance badly-needed infrastructure in the area, if asked.

Vrtis asserts that the proposed facility will actually reduce negative environmental conditions created by a glut of waste wood and by abandoned coal mines. His application cites specific studies by reputable scientists and firms to back up the claim.

That is not to pass judgment on his project — the relative merits of the proposal are yet to be discovered. Legitimate concerns about possible flooding and environmental impact must be addressed. That is why a public hearing on the siting for the project will be held next Tuesday, beginning at 9 a.m.

We urge all interested parties to participate in the hearing process and the Madison City Council, which must pass judgment on the siting, to listen closely and with open minds.

But we hope that those who attend and intend to comment on the project will research the issue thoroughly before presenting their case. We hope that, unlike Chicken Little, those who make claims about the project present hard facts backed up by scientific evidence — not wild assertions about deformed babies and the sky falling.

Otherwise, little will be accomplished.

Taking aim at Deadbeats

(The following editorial is from the Alton Telegraph.)

Courts will soon have a new and potentially very effective tool to use in enforcing child support orders.

Beginning next July, parents found in contempt of court for falling more than 90 days behind in child support can lose their drivers licenses.

Known as the Deadbeats Don't Drive bill, the new law is modeled after similar laws that have been effective in other states.

The threat of a similar law in California, for example, prompted delinquent parents to cough up $10 million in overdue support before a license was actually suspended. Maine collected more than $23 million from 12,500 people while suspending only 41 drivers or occupational licenses.

In Madison County, where 70 percent of parents who pay child support are at least a month behind, Madison County State's Attorney William Haine says the new enforcement tool "would be a tremendous help in the collection effort."

We know that some non-custodial parents feel child support orders are unfairly punitive, but denying children the financial support they need is no way to contest a decision of the court.

The Illinois law seems more than fair, giving motorists whose licenses might be suspended 60 days to either pay the overdue support or seek an administrative hearing to challenge the suspension.

Perhaps the year that will pass before the law becomes effective will give parents delinquent in child support plenty of time to reflect on their legal obligations. If not, it will give them plenty of reason to muse on society's hardening position against financial neglect of family obligations.

Webber's music best in decades

Bill Winter

Those who have enjoyed attending Broadway musical plays in past years probably are not returning to New York City as often these days.

There are hardly any new shows. Tony Award panels have had to rely on revivals of decades-old shows to fill out the annual listings of award nominees.

An exception to the shortage of new works is provided nearly every year by Andrew Lloyd Webber, currently represented on Broadway by his musical, "Sunset Boulevard." He has authored a long string of hits, including "The Phantom of the Opera."

The precise stature in musical history remains to be assessed by future generations, but he is obviously a major musical artist.

On the St. Louis Municipal Opera stage this summer, Paul Blake, Muny executive producer, compared Webber's shows of the 1980s and 1990s to those of Rodgers and Hammerstein in the 1940s and 1950s.

Now 47, the English-born composer has written motion picture scores for "Gumshoe," "The Odessa File" and "Jeeves."

His plays include "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," "Jesus Christ Superstar," "Evita," "Song and Dance," "Cats," "Starlight Express," "Requiem" and "Aspects of Love" as well as "Phantom" and "Sunset."

Webber is the first person to have three musicals running in New York and three in London, a record he achieved in 1982, in 1988 and again in 1994.

Winner of a dozen and a half Tony, Grammy, Drama Desk and Laurence Olivier awards, Webber was the first recipient of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers' Triple Play Award.

Through the Really Useful Company, he produces not only his own but also other writers' works, including "Shirley Valentine" and "Lend Me a Tenor."

In 1988, he was awarded the Fellowship of the Royal College of Music. In 1992, he was knighted for his services to the arts.

The music of Andrew Lloyd Webber was presented in St. Louis as part of the 1995 tour of "Surrender." Although he did not come to the Opera, the presentation was personally supervised by the composer.

An instrumental and dance highlight was Webber's "Variations for Cello and Rock Band" on Paganini's "24th Caprice."

Webber's music, the initial production of the Muny's 77th summer season, also featured a former close relative of Webber.

His ex-wife, Sarah Brightman, 33, was the vocal star, demonstrating not only six beautiful dresses but also the voice of an angel. (The couple was married from 1982 to 1990.)

There were other fine singers and dancers and a big orchestra, but Miss Brightman earned ovations for such songs as "Think of Me," "Phantom of the Opera," "All I Ask of You" and "The Music of the Night," all from "Phantom"; "Surrender" from "Sunset Boulevard"; "Chanson D'Enfance" from "Aspects of Love"; "Pie Jesu" from "Requiem"; and, from "Cats," "Macavity" and the wonderful "Memory," the latter sung in Italian.

Instead of "Tell Me On a Sunday" from "Song and Dance," Miss Brightman substituted a little-known Webber song, "Female of the Species."

As encores, she sang "Love Changes Everything" from "Aspects of Love" and then the show-stopping "Don't Cry For Me, Argentina" from "Evita."

Gifted with an outstanding soprano voice as well as dancing ability, Sarah Brightman made her theatrical debut at the age of 13 in London and has sung duets with such tenors as Placido Domingo and Jose Carreras.

A member of the original cast of "Cats," she premiered "The Nightingale," an opera for children, and in 1995 received a Grammy Award nomination as best new classical artist for premiering "Requiem" (Latin Requiem Mass) in New York and London.

She is a successful recording artist and is probably best known for creating the starring role of "Christine" in "Phantom of the Opera."

Her live performances have included engagements at the Metropolitan Opera in New York, Tchaikovsky Hall in Moscow and Orchard Hall in Tokyo.

She is the kind of singer who could be entertaining even singing names from a telephone book.

The reason for their marital split is unknown, but Brightman and Webber remain friends.

Having appeared in most of his musicals, she may well have been the chief inspiration for the best theatrical music written in the past half-century.

Baseball, T-ball-style

The following column was written by Mike Grubb of Waterloo.

Say it ain't so! T-ball season is over for my family.

My daughter, Kasey, has wrapped up her first season of organized ball. Let me rephrase that. Anyone who has witnessed the bizarre spectacle of a T-ball game knows that it is anything but organized.

Coach Dan should receive a commendation for attempting to transform these raw recruits into a well-oiled, finely tuned T-ball machine.

I started the year as a volunteer helper, but at the second practice, I lobbed a ball underhanded to my own daughter and knocked out a tooth — one that was on its way out anyway, but Don and I agreed it might be safer for all of us if I stayed in a lawn chair on the sidelines.

Due to rainy weather, spring training — all of two practices — was delayed a couple of weeks.

The first day was base-running practice. The kids were to pretend they had hit the ball and were to run the bases. Some left home plate heading for third. Some got it right and went to first and then took a short cut across the pitcher's mound to third. Others went from first to an imaginary base in center field.

It was somewhat reminiscent of the 1995 Cardinals only with more speed.

The second practice consisted of hitting and fielding with equally disastrous results. All too soon it was time for opening day.

For those who have never been involved in T-ball, let me ring you up to speed. The rules are similar to baseball except that every player bats each inning. They get a few tries to hit a live pitch and then they must hit it off a tee placed on home plate. The games are 32 innings long and take several days to complete. My wife and I take turns sleeping on a cot that we bring so one of us will always be watching. No score is kept, mirroring the concept of outcome-based education.

The fielders take their positions but soon start to congregate in groups of three or more sharing stock tips and agent phone numbers. It doesn't really matter because few balls that are hit go past the pitcher.

On the rare occasion that a ball is hit solidly to the field and doesn't hit a fielder, coaches and fans must alert the players to the fact that the ball is in play.

At this point, the five closest players dive onto the ball. Whoever emerges from the pile with it, even if it's the left fielder, will try to outrun the batter to first base instead of throwing him or her out.

Of course, the concessions are cheap, and you never have to worry about the players going on strike for more candy.

Letter to the editor

Government oversteps bounds

TO THE EDITOR:

Fear of government. Perhaps in no other time of our nation's history have so many law-abiding, decent citizens lived in some degree of fear of their own elected government.

Who hasn't known, or read about or seen on television, cases involving your average "Joe Blow" citizen being investigated, harassed or prosecuted by some branch of the federal or state government? Whether it be the IRS, the ATF or some child welfare bureaucracy — sometimes it takes no more than a simple, baseless allegation and a family's life is disrupted, bankrupted and even destroyed by those who are, supposedly, "public servants."

Case in point: As reported in the Journal, in 1990 federal agents, along with local police — both on our payroll — invented a "kiddie porn" company and then went fishing. They sent several invitations to a local man, Timothy Carney, who finally ordered some material. When it arrived, he was arrested and his dwelling thoroughly searched. The charge? Possessing child pornography (which, remember, had been supplied by the feds). No other child pornography was found, but it was pointed out that other "lewd" material was removed.

"Lewd?" What does that mean? Did he have copies of Playboy or Hustler? Perhaps he subscribed to the "lewd" channel on cable. Or maybe he took pictures when he went to our local "girly clubs."

Finally, in 1994, after two mistrials, Associate Judge J. Lawrence Keshner threw this bogus case out, citing that Carney had been "entrapped" by the government. Imagine. Four years of having your name associated with "child pornography." Having your private living space violated. Having, I assume, to spend your time and finances defending yourself against the inexhaustible funding of the state.

But, to add insult to injury, our very own state's attorney, William Haine, has reopened this case, stating, "It is my belief that the people of Illinois should have their day in court."

Yes, Mr. Haine, this Illinois citizen would indeed like to be heard. I, and I believe many, would desire that "accountability" be incorporated into the demagogic labyrinth that is federal and state government. No more wielding of the "citizens' power" without consequence. No more blatant trampling of the individual's rights.

In short: There must be a rebirth of the notion that the "power" of the state originates in the people, and the people set the boundaries of those chosen to represent them.

So, what happens when Mr. Carney's case is again thrown out? It is just, "Sorry we screwed your life up, Tim."

Will this citizen be compensated for being abused? Will specific individuals in government be held personally accountable for wasting the people's money?

Perhaps, after this ludicrous charge is finally dropped. Perhaps the state's attorney could help defray the cost out of his paycheck, or better yet, perhaps all the closets of his life could be thoroughly searched to see if any skeletons lurk. Or, better yet, perhaps some sophisticated scam could be devised to entice him to act "criminally" and then we'll let the "wheels of justice" grind on him for a while (say, five years).

No, on second thought, let's not do that. I wouldn't wish such a fate on anyone.

•Repairs

Juneau estimates the cost of the road repairs at more than $58,000.

The sewer repairs, estimated to cost $1.6 million, include several main arteries. For example, an 84-inch-wide pipe at the Charles Melvin Price Support Center and a 48-inch line into the Granite City Wastewater Treatment Plant were both damaged by the flooding, Juneau said.

He estimated the cost of the Price Center repair at $219,000, the WWTP repair at $47,000, and repairs to a damaged line on Johnson Road at $136,000.

The city had previously authorized emergency repairs to three major sewer breaks on Denver Street in West Granite. The street caved in and huge holes were left in the pavement as a result of the breaks.

After making point repairs to the Denver Street sewer, estimated to cost $198,582, the city will line the sewer pipe with plastic by the patented Insituform process.

•Computers

off the sound, something he says is very important too.

Knapp said there are about 20 different companies making software and hardware that enables the visually impaired to use a computer.

"The first thing I do is sit down and talk to the individual about their needs," he said. "First you have to determine whether or not they have good keyboard skills. Accessing a computer is difficult for anybody who is a one-finger typist, although it's done.

"What I do next is try to find out what kind of job the person is doing, the application that person is going to be using in that job, and then sit down and take a look at the different speech adaptations that are on the market," he said.

The idea is to find good jobs that pay good wages.

Knapp, 42, became interested in computers in the early '80s.

"Back in 1982 I had just finished some courses at the University of Virginia," he said. "I was looking at possible job options and I decided I wanted to be in a helping profession. I wanted to help people and let their own drive and initiative determine their own outcome."

However, because of budget cutting, jobs were becoming scarce. So Knapp decided to take some computer courses at a community college.

While taking the courses, an engineer with a computer background approached him about starting a consulting business.

"At that time I thought it was funny because I knew this much about computers," he said, holding his thumb and forefinger together.

"He said 'I know you don't know that much yet, but you will know, and I don't like to talk to the public, and you like to run your mouth,'" Knapp said.

"There was some truth in that and I couldn't deny it," he added.

They worked together for seven years. During that time demand for their services increased dramatically.

"As that happened, demand for computer access started to happen because community colleges began to see they had a market for their blind students," Knapp said. "Fortunately for me I was at the right place at the right time, and development was slow enough I could keep up."

In 1990, Knapp went to work for Arctic Technologies, one of the companies he was consulting.

"They really needed to have what we did for them on a consulting level on a full-time basis," he said. "I did that for four years."

He left and came to the Granite City area because of his wife, Caren Culleen, pastor of Central Christian Church.

"I really enjoyed my time with them, but in June of last year, my wife was approached by the Granite City church to be their minister," he said. "Like a lot of families, it presented a dilemma for the both of us.

"She had on several occasions deferred to my needs so that I could get established," he continued. "I was at a point now that I felt I had enough skills that I could be a consultant on my own or work with other people."

He worked as a consultant until being approached by NIB about three months ago.

"My role here is to try to help marry the technology to the jobs so that we can get people employed in a job that they can hold," Knapp said.

Like sighted people, the ability of someone who is visually impaired to use a computer depends on their aptitude.

"It's not for everybody in the sense that some people relate to machines," he said. "If you got me near a forklift I'd be a really dangerous driver."

Knapp said the person must be willing to try.

"Then the real issue is to try to get that person to understand the medium that is not really intended to be accessed in the way that we're accessing it, because the medium, especially when you look at Windows, is really meant to be a pictorial based system," he said. "My job is to convert those visual abstracts to intelligent speech for those who are willing to learn."

Knapp said there are some limits on what a visually impaired person can do on a computer.

"I don't think you'd see a totally blind person use Corel Draw (a popular graphics program)," he said.

"We can access Windows, but it's because we can tag icons with words or numbers," he said. "While Windows is a very visual medium, we can still do a lot of things that are information based."

He said the problem is that many computer applications are not meant to be operated like that. To allow a visually-impaired person to use the programs, there has to be some kind of "hook" they can use.

However, things are improving, he said.

"Manufacturers are starting to deal with visually-impaired people," he said. "I think we have to explain to developers that we represent jobs and dollars, and having a chance at our money is better than not having a chance at all.

"I'm not talking about doing the right thing; there is money to be made here," he said.

composure. "We ran around together since we were boys and it was with a great deal of pride that I recommended Bob as supervisor in 1985.

"He represented the county, Granite City and his family very well and he made us all proud."

Ming, 39, of Granite City, had served in the office as chief deputy supervisor of assessments for 12 years.

She joined the office in 1973 as a deputy assessor.

"I'd like to thank all of you for your confidence and support," Ming told the board. "I regret the terrible circumstances in which this has happened, but I promise to uphold the tradition of good service the office has provided.

"I wasn't prepared for something like this to happen, but I promise to do the best job I'm physically capable of, and I promise I'll make you proud of us."

Hagnauer said Ming was the obvious choice for the position because of her experience.

"It's good that we were able to get someone who knows the people and who knows how the office runs," Hagnauer said. "I think the vote of the board showed our confidence in Debra, and I'm sure she'll do a great job."

Ming will serve a full four-year term in the office, which began Wednesday. She will be paid $47,075 for her first year in office.

In other business Wednesday, the county board unanimously approved a settlement on a reduced tax assessment rate for the Wood River Amoco oil refinery.

County Administrator Jim Monday said the company has downsized operations on the property and is removing equipment and buildings which give the property much of its value.

The property's 1994 tax assessment valued the property at $74 million, Monday said, but the company had appealed the finding.

While the property's 1994 assessment will stand at $74 million, the sides agreed to value the property at $30 million for 1995 and $20.8 million in 1996.

"I hesitate to talk about anything beyond 1996," Monday said. "In 1997 we'll determine the assessment based on what is still there."

Board member Homer Henke, R-Moro, said the loss of revenue to the area is unfortunate but unavoidable.

"Amoco was the goose that laid the golden egg, but it isn't laying eggs anymore," Henke said.

Dream vacation

Woman wins trip to see Rolling Stones in Germany

By Cheryl Friedman
Correspondent

Consider this: You are in your 20s, have just purchased your first home and are spending each extra minute and every extra dime installing new carpeting and tile, new cabinets, even new bathrooms in an effort to call your new house "home."

You need extra money, maybe a vacation.

"Dream on," most might say.

Serena Futrell of Granite City wouldn't. That particular dream came true when the new homeowner called St. Louis radio station KSHE-95 on June 14, gave a "secret" passport number aired earlier in the day and won $1,000.

She was shocked, but not as shocked as she was last week when the radio station called her back.

"They called me at work during the morning show and asked if I had a passport," she said.

"I said, 'no,' and they said, 'You better get one because you're going to Berlin to see the Rolling Stones'."

Futrell said she was sure it was a prank and reacted sarcastically.

"Then I heard the radio station in the background, and I realized it was for real."

Seconds later, co-workers at Hogan Transportation in St. Louis paused to listen to her let out a few screams of joy.

It seems that after Futrell won $1,000 in the station's "Bud Light Summer Passport Giveaway," her name was entered into a drawing for their "1995 Rolling Stones Berlin Flyaway," which includes a week in Germany and a free concert.

Futrell said she doesn't travel much and has never been out of the country. And, although she has a history of entering radio station contests, she has never won more than $103.

"Winning the trip still hasn't sunk in," she said.

On Aug. 14, she and her boyfriend, Vincent Freeze, will depart for Germany. They'll return after a week of tours, travel and, of course, a Rolling Stones concert at Berlin Stadium — a much-needed break, she said, from home remodeling.

Opening to help crisis center

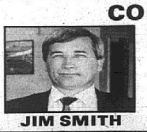

The grand opening of Jessica's Cottage and Violets and Vinery at 1304 Niedringhaus Ave., will also serve as a fund raiser the Phoenix Crisis Center.

Restaurant owner Sharon Van Meter said the event — a cocktail and hors d'oeuvre buffet, will begin at 5:30 p.m. Monday, July 24.

The cost is $25 per person, with proceeds going to Phoenix Crisis Center, a nonprofit organization offering shelter, counseling and other services to victims of domestic violence.

The event is sponsored by Volunteers Organizing Independent Charitable Efforts, a group specializing in fund raising.

Record turnout expected for PSG

Just one day remains before the Prairie State Games kicks off their 12th running...in Southwestern Illinois.

No one would have thought it 11 years ago when the first statewide Olympics-type competition was held in Champaign-Urbana that it would ever be held in Southwestern Illinois. One of the Doubting Thomases was Vergil Fletcher, the legendary basketball coach from Collinsville High School, who was the Southern Region's first regional director.

FLETCHER, RETIRED since 1978 and still living in Collinsville, said: "It was a surprise to me to see that the Games are in Southwestern Illinois. You just thought the people from the north would not come down here."

But they're coming — and in record numbers. Maureen Moore, co-executive director with her husband, Mike, said a record 5,300 athletes will be competing in this year's finals, Friday through Sunday at sites throughout Southwestern Illinois. Those numbers are eye-popping. Last summer's U.S. Olympic Festival in the St. Louis area had 3,600 athletes.

Fletcher, admitting he now follows the Games only through newspaper and other media accounts, knows well that the Games have changed over the years. When they started in 1984, they were heavily funded by the state. The money dwindled over the years until it was cut off completely in 1992. It has been privately funded since.

"When we first started, the athletes were provided transportation, meals and lodging in Champaign," Fletcher said. "They were all outfitted, too."

THOSE PERKS FOR the athletes and coaches are no longer, but the Games appear to be stronger than ever because of the persistence of the two Moorees, both Belleville natives who tapped into their local ties for both economic and emotional support. The business and government concerns, along with the school districts, have jumped on the bandwagon to give their support financially and in donating facilities. Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is the anchor venue.

What may not be such a big deal to the people of Chicago — who are used to big events — is certainly a big event for the people of Southwestern Illinois. Herb Rautenberg, executive director of Southwestern Illinois Tourism, says the Prairie State Games are the biggest thing to ever happen in this area.

Little did Coach Fletcher know that someday they would happen in his own backyard.

LIKE MANY OTHERS who have been in the newspaper business any length of time, I, too, was saddened by the death of former longtime St. Louis Globe-Democrat sports editor Bob Burnes. I had the pleasure of working with Mr. Burnes when I was the editor of the Redbird Review. Bob was a regular contributor to the publication, writing historical stories about the Cardinals.

He was an amazing man. His memory and strong voice belied his physical presence.

Triplets trounce Troy 12-4

Tri-City ends regular season 12-10; district playoffs next

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

Mike Ahlvers pitched five innings of one-hit ball, and Brad Ervay sparked the Triplets' offense with four RBIs as visiting Tri-City ended its regular season on a high note by thrashing Troy 12-4 on Tuesday night.

The win puts Tri-City at 12-10 in league play and 14-15 overall going into the District 22 playoffs. The question now is whether the Triplets finish fourth or fifth in the North Division.

THE TEAMS SHOULD find out tonight where they finished and where they'll be playing. If Tri-City ends up fourth, it will not have to play until this Sunday. If the Triplets finish fifth, they would have to play on Friday.

Either way, Tuesday's win no doubt will send the Triplets into the playoffs on a good note.

"I thought we played pretty well," said Triplets manager Doug Winfield. "We got good hitting and great pitching from Ahlvers. I can't say enough about the way he pitched tonight."

Ahlvers set down the first 10 men he faced before he gave up a one-out walk to Troy's Ryan Langdon in the fourth inning.

By then, Tri-City was up 7-0.

The Triplets went down in order in the first against Troy righthander Doug Kreitner. But in the second, with lighting conditions at their worst, they struck for five runs.

"ONCE IT GOT dark it was OK," Winfield said about the lighting at the Troy playing field. "But it was still dusk in the second inning, and they did a good job. We bunted two times in a row, and they couldn't make the play on either of them. You can't give a team four or five outs in an inning. That's what we've been doing lately."

Scott Nemeth, who had three hits for Tri-City, started the second inning with a single — on what amounted to a swinging bunt — off third baseman Jeff Johnson's glove. Then Brian Lloyd and Bill Niepert each

Paddlers second in SWISA meet

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

The Paddlers swim team used good times in the backstroke and breaststroke events to secure a well-earned second-place finish at the SWISA Relays Swim Meet on July 10 at Sunset Hills Country Club.

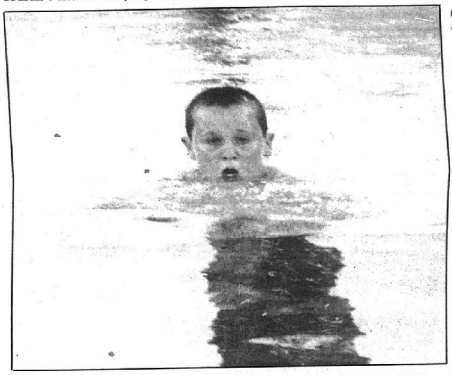

It was not a good meet for host Sunset, which finished a disappointing last out of the six competing conference teams.

Summers-Port took top honors in the meet with 211 points. Paddlers was second with 208, while Montclaire was third at 179.

Wedgewood (179), Gaslight (113) and Sunset Hills (92) finished up the scoring. Summer Haven did not field a team at the relay event.

"I'M VERY happy with the way we swam," said Paddlers swim coach Celeste Furmanek. "It was a very close meet, with a lot of difficult teams to beat."

For the Paddlers, Summersport continues to be the thorn in their side, with the final swim meet of the summer scheduled for Summers-Port on Tuesday.

Joe Ravanelli helped lead the way to a win in the 150 freestyle during the SWISA Relays meet last week.

"We hadn't seen them yet this year," Furmanek said. "We will swim against them Tuesday, though, and that will be one of the big meets of the year. Montclaire was also big, but this is a very important meet coming up."

The Pirates had 10 winning teams and 11 runners-up in the 52 competitive events, which presented a real test of a team's depth.

Southern Region fields second soccer squad

Prairie State Games

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

Player-coach Carlos Ramos didn't envy coach Norm Seim when it came time to select the Southern Region open men's soccer team.

When open tryouts for the Prairie State Games were held, 43 men showed up to showcase their talents. Seim had the difficult task of trimming the list of candidates to 18 players and two alternates.

The turnout was so overwhelming that when a team backed out, Prairie State Games officials decided to let the Southern Region have two teams. Seim will coach Southern I and Ramos will be the player-coach of Southern II.

"WE'RE THE dark horse," Ramos said. "We've got a lot of good players, people on the team. The pressure is not on us, it's on the other team and that's nice too. The first team has a good team, we've been practicing against them. I didn't envy Norm when it came time to pick the players."

Ramos, a 1984 graduate of Belleville East, entered the picture as the player-coach when he was one of the 43 who tried out for the team. Ramos said he had the extra motivation of wanting to make the team because his younger brother, Alex, a sophomore at Washington University, was asked to try out and made the Southern I squad.

Carlos Ramos, who doesn't have the speed that helped him garner All-State honors his junior and senior year because of bad knees, was originally named to be an alternate on Southern I.

When the opportunity came about for a second team, Seim looked to Ramos to be the player-coach.

"I'm 29 years old," Ramos said. "I'm the veteran on the team. I still have my old moves. My speed is not there. My knees are healed up."

Ramos himself will use his veteran leadership to shore up the midfield. Like its counterpart, Southern I, Ramos' squad will be loaded at midfield.

Prairie State men's spikers on the rise

By Scott Marion
Staff writer

It wasn't long ago that the Southern Region had trouble getting enough players to field a scholastic men's volleyball team for the Prairie State Games. But those days are over.

The 1995 Southern squad features a full 12-player roster, comprised entirely of PSG newcomers. To Charlie Merker — who coaches the team along with Roger Westfall from Triad Middle School — that's proof of volleyball's growing popularity.

"WE HAVE TWO kids from Anna-Jonesboro, one from Collinsville, three from Granite City, five from Freeburg and one from Belleville East," said Merker, husband of Sue Merker, who coaches the Southern Region scholastic women's team as well as the girls volleyball team at Freeburg High School. "It's going to be a lot of fun and I think the kids will learn a little bit. There really aren't any (volleyball) programs in this area for the boys.

"We have some good athletes who just need to get some volleyball experience. They're all smart kids and quick learners. It's hard to get kids at this age together because of American Legion baseball and basketball tournaments. But they want to play, and that's the most important thing.

"We're probably going to face some teams from the Chicago or Springfield area that have played together before, and that makes it tough. We're trying to keep things simple, do the basics and play sound volleyball. That's about all we can do."

Members of the Southern team are listed below by high school and their grade during the 1994-95 school year:

NASCAR drivers to race at Tri-City Speedway

The NASCAR Busch Tour late models will make their annual appearance at Tri-City Speedway on Wednesday for the Carquest AC-Delco 50. The Busch All-Star tour event will feature St. Louis native and Winston Cup driver Ken Schrader, who will be competing against over 30 touring drivers.

Schrader, who cut his racing teeth at Tri-City and other St. Louis-area dirt tracks, has three career NASCAR Busch Tour victories to his credit — one each in 1990, '91 and '94. Two of those victories, in '90 and '91, came at Tri-City Speedway. His 1994 tour win was in Macon, Ill.

LAST YEAR, the Carquest AC-Delco 50 was the culmination of a long day for Schrader. Earlier that day, he had competed in the inaugural Brickyard 500 in Indianapolis. He then flew back to St. Louis and drove over for the feature race at Tri-City.

"He'll be driving his customary Bud No. 25 car," said race promoter Bob Wente. "Also on hand will be St. Louis drivers Ed Dixon and Kevin Gundaker. Those are the guns that will be here from St. Louis."

Joe Kosiski, who also has filed an entry form for Wednesday, is the only other winner in the history of NASCAR Busch All-Star Tour races in Granite City. He took the checkered flag in both 1993 and '94.

Kosiski is a former tour champion and two-time winner this season. He took the point lead at the tour's eighth race, held on July 2 in Davenport, Iowa.

THE WINNER OF the 50-mile feature Wednesday receives a cool $3,000 of a purse in excess of $20,000. There were over 30 confirmed entries as of July 18.

Registration and inspection open at 4 p.m. next Wednesday. Practice is set for 6:30 p.m., followed by time trials at 7 and racing at 8.

Other popular NASCAR Busch All-Star Tour drivers who have committed to the race include Bob Dominacki, whose first-ever tour win on July 2 boosted

•Paddlers

"Each swimmer is allowed to compete in only four events," Furmanek said. "You have to spread the kids out, and it makes our second-place finish that much more of a team effort."

Finishing first for the Paddlers in the 13-14 boys 200 relay was the team of Timothy Dittman, David Doolen, Ty Suhre and Zak Bruch with a time of 2:11.64. Also placing first was the 9-10 boys 150 freestyle. Ian Hartzel, Joe Ravanelli and Chris Heintz took that event in 1:59.84.

The next team to take first-place honors was the 9-10 boys 150 breaststroke, as Ravanelli, Heintz and Justin Schooley teamed up for a 2:31.82 mark.

The 11-12 boys 150 breaststroke also won, as Scott Schardan, Andy Lauber and Brian Reese sped to a time of 1:57.07. The 13-14 150 breaststroke team was victorious as well, as Dittman, Brian Baker and Doolen swam a 1:56.25.

The 15-18 girls 150 breaststroke continued the Paddlers domination in that stroke category as Katie Curran, Kristin Buff and Lesley Neff took the event in 1:58.43. That performance was followed quickly by the backstroke events, and Maggie Ronk, Annie Bosslett and Rachel Clark won the 8-under 75 backstroke in 1:15.47.

The 11-12 boys 150 backstroke was the next Paddlers win, as Reese, Lauber and Dittman swam to a time of 1:55.22. Suhre, Bruch and Dooley also took the 13-14 boys 150 backstroke in a time of 1:49.88; and Doolen, Suhre and Bruch rounded out the winning teams by taking the 12-13 boys' 150 butterfly (1:48.05) in the 47th event of the day.

"There were no individual efforts that day, everything was won as a team," Furmanek said. "We're all looking forward to our last meet against Summers-Port this Tuesday. We've had a good summer, with a lot of new, young kids swimming very well. It looks good for us in the future."

reached on bunt attempts before Brad Ervay did anything but bunt.

He scorched a line drive over the head of left fielder Travis Litteken for a double, driving in three runs. Brian Etherton added the first of his two sacrifice flies, and another run scored on an error for a 5-0 Tri-City lead.

"We got out to a quick lead, and that made it much easier for Mike to pitch," Winfield said.

Ahlvers looked for a while like he might be able to pitch a no-hitter. He was getting good play from his defense, and several Troy line drives went right into Tri-City gloves.

But the no-no attempt was broken up by Johnson in the bottom of the fifth, as he rolled a seeing-eye single up the middle. Winfield said he was rooting for Ahlvers to get the no-hitter, but he was glad to give a couple more of his pitchers a chance to throw.

Jeremy Hoback got through a tough sixth inning before Matt Tieman finished up for the Triplets.

Ervay also drove in a run in the third inning, and he finished 2 for 4. Nemeth was 3 for 4 with a pair of runs driven in, and Jason Wood was 2 for 4 with an RBI. Etherton was 1 for 2 with a pair of walks to go along with his two sacrifice flies.

Troy had fielding problems throughout the game and was charged unofficially with seven errors.

"You have to make the plays against a team like this," said Troy manager Jim Hawkins during the game, "and we're not doing it."

"We don't know yet where we'll finish, so we have to be ready to play Friday," Winfield said. "It was a good way to end the (regular) season."

•Southern

Ramos can choose from Justin Germ, Wes Burkett and Chris Bunting. Joe Hicky and Matt Wadick from Carbondale can play at midfield as well.

"The midfield is strong with a lot of good playing capability," Ramos said. "We've got a lot of depth in the midfield. These guys have been playing soccer for so long they know how to take care of themselves."

The fullbacks will be led by Belleville East graduate Todd Dumbroski and Collinsville High graduate Rick Artime. The other backs will be Jamie Dake, Sean Ellis, David Klasner and Chris Thompson.

Althoff High graduate Fontez Mark solidifies the defense in goal. Mark, who hasn't practiced with the team because he is in summer school, will be back in time to man the goal when Southern II steps onto the field 4 p.m. Friday against Pioneer. Southern II will play on field one at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

Up until O'Fallon graduate and current SIUE player Jason Turkington came out for the team late last week, Ramos' only concern was up top. He was worried the team lacked some scoring punch. With the addition of the speedy Turkington, Southern II looks better at the forward position.

Turkington will mesh nicely with Curt Atkinson and Billy Perry.

Southern II will not face Southern I in pool play. The only way they could meet would be in the championship game, set for 4 p.m. Sunday.

"My brother plays for the team. I can't let him win," Ramos joked. "Either way it would be nice to see each other in the finals. We're just going to take it one game at a time."

The remainder of Southern II's schedule is 2 p.m. Saturday vs. Willco on field nine and 10 a.m. Sunday vs. West Central on field one.

"Mike Rosborg will be tough, but he's really in the early stages. As far as our lineup, it's definitely going to be a mixture."

Southern will compete Saturday in pool play against Windy City at 10 a.m., North Shore I at 1:45 p.m. and West Central at 4:15. 'Jesus Christ Superstar' to be presented here

"Jesus Christ Superstar" will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, July 29; Friday, Aug. 4; and Saturday, Aug. 5; and at 2 p.m. Sunday, July 30, and Sunday, Aug. 6, at the ShowTime Express Theater.

Tickets are $6 in advance and $7 at the door. All performances will be held in the ShowTime Express Theater, above Players, 1329 Niedringhaus Ave. in Granite City.

"Jesus Christ Superstar" is a Biblical bonanza — a stirring, luminous and impassioned rock musical about the healing and joyous quality of love.

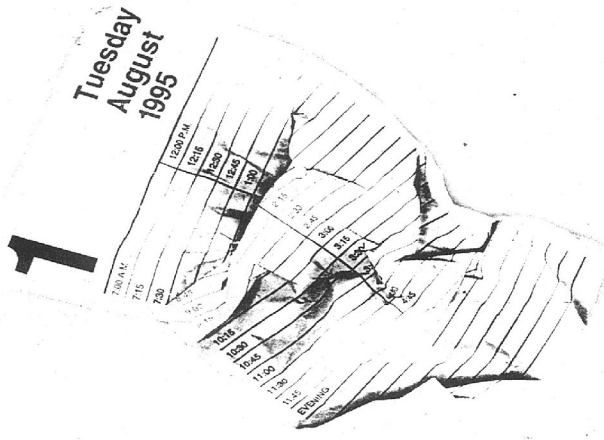

The score, by Andrew Lloyd Webber, is vibrant, richly varied and always dramatically right as are the lyrics by Tim Rice.

This treatment of Christ's passion tells of the last week in Christ's life, culminating in his crucifixion and his follower's plaintive and searching cries for meaning in his death. As a quest for human and divine trust, "Jesus Christ Superstar" speaks to the world in language and music appropriate for our time.

Starring in the lead role as Jesus is David Mendoza, lead singer for "Sammy and the Snow Monkeys," the top-ranking local St. Louis artist for sales of their compact disc of original songs entitled "Play It Again."

The cast also includes Dwayne Hilton as Judas and Sarah Engelke as Mary for the July performances; Michael W. Carey as Judas and Anne Gargac as Mary for the August performance; Scott Forney as Simon; Scott Tripp as Peter; John Buxton Jr. as Caiaphas; Marty Eckhard as Pilot; Larry Grey as Annas and Jerry Petrillo as Herrod.

Ticket reservations are advisable. Call ShowTime Express at 876-6535. Reservation calls will receive the advance price. Tickets will be available at the door only if show is not sold out.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). You make a profound impression on a new friend or love interest. Avoid letting office or financial worries prevent you from enjoying time with loved ones. Relay a message to a relative. Submit reports.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Circumstances surrounding a potential host may require you to revise your plans. Just be yourself with a new love interest, and all will go well. A major purchase involves a down payment. You learn an important fact.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Be sure you practice what you preach today. Colleagues support a decision you have made. A love interest is quick to come to your defense. Strike a bargain with a friend or neighbor. You earn extra cash.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Relatives are extremely accommodating. Make an effort to contact a roommate or neighbor who is trying to get in touch with you. Money involves insurance or a legacy. A schoolmate or co-worker romances you.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (July 20). You face shiny horizons in the romance department. Employers seek your creative input on projects. Take some time off in October to travel and rekindle your romance. Singles find love overseas with fellow travelers. Couples sign up for classes together in August and April. An educational opportunity or goal is finally yours. Family reunions take place this fall. Your luckiest months are January and May.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Stick to your own affairs today, and you will be most productive. Rise above petty competition at school or the office. Time spent alone with a lover this evening helps you to unwind. You receive a notice regarding finances.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). If you organize your time efficiently today, it will be possible to get everything done. You are the voice of reason on the job. An admirer tries desperately to get your attention. Deposit checks as soon as possible.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You take a bit longer than usual to wake up fully this morning — avoid making plans until you are alert. Preconceived notions are disproven. Money involves a bonus or commission. A romantic partner is especially tender.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Your special kindness to a co-worker or neighbor gives both of you a lift. A temporary lull enables you to accomplish much at work today. A loved one makes a request. Luck involves gambling or a contest.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Reward yourself for sticking to a resolution with a small purchase or outing. A love interest is behaving in a rather manipulative way — be on your guard. Balance the books, or review accounts. You make a discovery.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Change savings plans now — this will forestall future complications. Attention from your spouse or lover brightens what might have been a blue day. Avoid being too hard on yourself. You hear from an old pal.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). You get back to your old routine today. Take stock of recent events so you can plan ahead better. Exercise caution in money matters. Your spouse or lover has difficulty understanding your attitude — explain yourself.

Nine (ho-hum) Months

Did you hear the one about how long it's going to take Hugh Grant to live down his infamous night in Hollywood? "Nine Months." Sad to say, but there are probably funnier punch lines associated with Grant's recent night moves than with his new film.

"Nine Months," starring Grant as a man coming to terms with his girlfriend's unplanned pregnancy, is generating a lot of hype due to the misadventures of the popular Brit, who seems more interesting and sympathetic in contrition than many other actors without a rap sheet.

And even though the tabloid headlines will draw the curious looking for a good snicker, the film itself falls far short on the entertainment yardstick. In fact, one might say that "Nine Months" is just downright ill-conceived.

Ham-fisted and simplistically drawn, "Nine Months" tries to generate the same slapstick, physical comedy that its director Chris Columbus achieved in "Mrs. Doubtfire" and "Home Alone." But here's the problem: for all the fumbling and bumbling, the jokes just aren't funny. And a shoe-horned subplot about parental duty and the joys of fatherhood comes across as cloying and manipulative.

Part of the problem is that "Nine Months" uses the broadest of strokes to portray parenting versus the single life. Those with children, the film implies, are boring, kiddie-obsessed stay-at-homes, the kind of people who stop reading and go to bed early. Single folk, on the other hand, are footloose and fancy free they go to wild parties with interesting people and lead terminally hip lives.

His is a world where children are rude and ill-mannered, a place filled with jokes about genitals, blood and bowel movements, a place that would make Beavis and Butt-head look like MacNeil-Lehrer in comparison.

But it doesn't work. Instead, watching "Nine Months" is some what akin to a night of baby-sitting hell: You'll keep looking at your watch and hoping it's almost time to go home.

BRING IT · PHONE IT · FAX IT · MAIL IT

BRING IT: 1815 Delmar Ave., Granite City, IL 62040.

PHONE IT: Call 877-7700 or dial 876-2000. Phone lines are open from 8 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

FAX IT: Send your ads directly to our Classified Fax Center at (618) 876-4240. We'll call you back for confirmation.

MAIL IT: Send your ads to: Classified, Granite City Press-Record Journal, 1815 Delmar, Granite City, IL 62040.

PAY FOR AN AD

You will be billed immediately following last run day. You may pay in person, through the mail, or over the phone or fax. We accept cash, checks and credit cards (MC/Visa/Discover). When paying over the phone, please have your credit card ready. When faxing your ad, just include yur credit card number. We'll call you back for confirmation. Please do not send cash through the mail. Some ads require prepayment.

WRITE AN AD

Capture the reader's attention with larger headlines, bold type, and icons. Tell them up front what you're selling or seeking.
